

When we were looking to purchase a central base, for our operations, we struggled to find a location from which we could best serve our expanding customer base; both north and south of the border. We needed to find a premises at a realistic price which reflected market conditions. The unit had to be one we could tailor to our own specific needs, and develop to suit our sign production processes.

Since first finding out about Drumshanbo Business Park, the ease of transition from our old premises to the new self-designed unit has been overwhelming. This was due in no small part to the help and patience of Feoghail, Shere and Enda of Triton Developments.

Drumshanbo is a wonderful community, with a well developed workforce, and proves to be accessible, yet quiet, making working here a pleasure.
